

Exhibit 6

FCC Violations During the Preceding License Term

KIMT(TV) is an affiliate of the CBS Television Network. KIMT(TV), however, is not owned directly or indirectly by Viacom, Inc.

On September 22, 2004, the Commission issued a Notice of Apparent Liability for Forfeiture (“NAL”) in which it found that “the licensees of CBS Network Stations, [defined to include KIMT(TV)] . . . aired program material during the halftime entertainment show of the National Football League’s Super Bowl XXXVIII, that apparently violates the federal restrictions regarding the broadcast of indecent material.” Complaints Against Various Television Licensees Concerning Their February 1, 2004, Broadcast of the Super Bowl XXXVIII Halftime Show, 19 FCC Rcd 19230, ¶ 1 (2004). As a CBS affiliate, KIMT(TV) broadcast the program material at issue.

In the decision, the Commission further concluded that “we have no evidence that the licensee of any of the non-Viacom-owned CBS Affiliate[s] was involved in the selection, planning or approval of the apparently indecent material.” Id. at ¶ 25. The Commission also found “that the licensee of each such station could not have reasonably anticipated that the CBS Network production of a prestigious national event such as the Super Bowl would contain material that included the on-camera exposure of Ms. Jackson’s breast.” Id. For these reasons, the Commission declined to admonish or impose a monetary forfeiture or any other sanction against the licensees of non-Viacom-owned CBS affiliates.

Given the FCC’s failure to sanction KIMT(TV) in any way, the licensee believes that its answer to Section II, Question 4 (“FCC Violations during the Preceding License Term”) should be “yes,” indicating that it certifies that there have been no violations.
